Global Security and the Future of Scotland International Conference

FRIDAY 8 – 9 NOVEMBER 2013
IN THE SENATE ROOM AT GLASGOW UNIVERSITY

The Glasgow Global Security Network is delighted to announce this conference bringing together important practitioners and academics to discuss the Scottish independence referendum. We will have two major key note addresses, one from Lt General Sir Alistair Irwin (retd) the former Adjutant General of the British Army, and the other from Sir David Omand, Security and Intelligence coordinator for the UK Cabinet. We also have a line-up of speakers from Scotland, the UK and around the world including Sir Hew Strachan, Malcolm Chalmers, Michael Keating, Sandie Hardie, Colin Fleming, John MacDonald, Daniel Kenealy, Juliet Karbo, Ryan Beasley, Jarsolav Tir, Steven Saideman, Peter Jackson and Phillips O'Brien. They will be looking at the most pressing security issues that have emerged so far including those involving the EU, NATO, Nuclear Weapons and the RUK. They will also discuss how an independent Scotland could establish its own Defence forces and Intelligence agency.

The conference is open to the public without charge, however seating is strictly limited, and everyone who wants to attend must register for seats. Please only register if you are sure you can attend. Registration for the conference will open on October 10,

Due to the high interest in this event please ensure your register in advance

https://ggsnconference2013.eventbrite.co.uk/

Dr Phillips O’Brien Telephone: (0)141 330 6115   Email: phillips.obrien@glasgow.ac.uk

The Global Security Network would like to thank the ESRC and The College of Social Sciences for their generous support.

University of Glasgow, charity number SC004401