Career prospects
There is a high demand for law professionals with expertise in a specialised area of law such as Corporate Law, Intellectual Property Law, Competition Law, and International Security Law. With an LLM from the University of Glasgow, you will be well placed for roles in law firms, banks, and financial institutions, entertainment and media companies, think-tanks, regulators, competition agencies around the world, international organisations, government departments (ministries of foreign affairs, defense, justice, home affairs, and development), and non-governmental organisations.

Entry requirements
2.1 Honours degree or non-UK equivalent in law or with at least 50% of the credits in law.

How to apply
To make an application to the University of Glasgow, go to: glasgow.ac.uk/pg/apply
For any enquiries email: llmenquiries@glasgow.ac.uk

WHAT OUR STUDENTS SAY

‘Glasgow definitely surpassed my expectations and in my opinion is the ideal place to pursue an LLM degree. Glasgow has a welcoming and friendly attitude towards any newcomer and this is equally true of the School of Law. I feel that the programme is very current and up to date with the practical realities in the field of intellectual property.’

Elise Dingli, Malta
Intellectual Property & the Digital Economy

We offer you the flexibility of tailoring your own LLM programme, so you do not need to choose between a specialised or general LLM until you start the programme.

Career prospects
There is a high demand for law professionals with expertise in a specialised area of law such as Corporate Law, Intellectual Property Law, Competition Law, and International Security Law. With an LLM from the University of Glasgow, you will be well placed for roles in law firms, banks, and financial institutions, entertainment and media companies, think-tanks, regulators, competition agencies around the world, international organisations, government departments (ministries of foreign affairs, defense, justice, home affairs, and development), and non-governmental organisations.

Entry requirements
2.1 Honours degree or non-UK equivalent in law or with at least 50% of the credits in law.

How to apply
To make an application to the University of Glasgow, go to: glasgow.ac.uk/pg/apply
For any enquiries email: llmenquiries@glasgow.ac.uk

JOIN US AND MAKE YOUR MARK
LLM PROGRAMMES

LLM: 12 months full-time; 24 months part-time

Law has been taught at the University of Glasgow since the 15th century. Today the School of Law is recognised as the top law school in Scotland* and one of the top 10 law schools in the United Kingdom* and enjoys a worldwide reputation for excellence in research.

Studying for an LLM at Glasgow equips you with the knowledge and skills you need in an increasingly competitive legal market. Our graduates have gone on to work in international courts, the European Commission, banking and finance, international law firms, governments, and academic institutions around the world.

What will I get from this programme?

• The programme provides in-depth treatment of relevant areas of UK, EU and international law.
• You will benefit from our excellent facilities including the dedicated School of Law library; our main University library also contains our extensive collection of legal materials and official publications and is a European Documentation Centre.
• We have a very vibrant mooting programme and a dedicated Moot Courtroom. We have an outstanding record of success and you can participate in internal, national and international mooting competitions.
• Guest-speaker presentations, an active research seminar series and other extra-curricular events provide you with a unique opportunity to meet lawyers and academics from around the world, become exposed to some of the most topical discussions, and to engage with current debates that will enable you to become highly competent in any taught area of law.
• The School of Law hosts CREATES, the RCUK Centre for Copyright and New Business Models in the Creative Economy, which brings together an interdisciplinary team of academics from law, economics, management, computer science, sociology, psychology, ethnography and critical studies within a consortium of seven UK universities.

Why Glasgow

Our LLM programme draws students from around the world. The diverse student body (many students already have professional experience) enables a wide range of viewpoints to be expressed in class discussions.

Courses are delivered through a blend of lectures and seminar style teaching. You will have opportunities to get involved in class discussions, while lectures are able to attend to the individual needs of students.

*Complete University Guide 2018

Programme structure

The LLM is structured into courses that run over two semesters. This provides the opportunity for in-depth study without the immediate pressure of examination preparation. Coursework forms part of the overall assessment alongside exams, and provides a way for you to measure your progress throughout the year. You will be required to submit a dissertation at the end of the programme.

We offer seven specialised LLMs and one general degree:

• LLM Corporate & Financial Law
• LLM Intellectual Property & the Digital Economy
• LLM International Commercial Law
• LLM International Competition Law & Policy
• LLM International Economic Law
• LLM International Law
• LLM International Law & Security
• LLM (General)

Programme flexibility

Flexibility in the LLM programme structure permits personal ‘tailoring’ of the programme. There are two ways to select your LLM programme:

Specialised LLMs

4 courses from the selected specialised programme + dissertation OR
3 courses from the selected specialised programme + 1 course from another programme + dissertation

General LLM

4 courses from any specialised programme(s) + free choice of dissertation

Sample courses

• Advanced introduction to international criminal law
• Advanced introduction to the law of the United Nations
• Copyright: Glasgow
• Corporate finance
• Intellectual property and the market
• International competition law
• International courts and tribunals
• International financial regulation
• International investment law
• International law and international security
• International merger control
• International sales and finance
• International trade law
• Trade marks and brands

For a full list of courses visit glasgow.ac.uk/llm