

History of Death: Sources

How to use this list of sources

This is a list of some of the collections that may provide a useful starting point when researching this subject. It gives the collection reference and a brief description of the kinds of records held in the collections. More detailed lists are available in the searchroom and from our online catalogue. Enquiries should be directed to the Duty Archivist, see contact details at the end of this source list.

Personal papers

Very often amongst family and personal papers accounts of deaths, letters of condolence and obituaries have been carefully kept. The letters can offer evidence of society's reactions to the bereaved as well as evidence of the dead person's contacts and influence. Below are examples of the collections of papers, which include such material.

Bowman, Archibald Allan (1883-1936); Professor of Moral Philosophy 1927-1936 (GUAS Ref: DC 77)

Large collection of letters of sympathy on death of Professor A A Bowman 1936

Lumsden of Arden (GUAS Ref: DC 112)

Much information about the deaths of friends and family as well as accounts of dying and death.

MacFie Family; sugar refiners, Greenock, Glasgow, Edinburgh and Liverpool (GUAS Ref: DC 112)

Includes correspondence, sermons, press cuttings, registers of family deaths, last words as well as poetry about deceased.

Napier Collection; including Robert Napier & Sons, shipbuilders (GUAS Ref: DC 90)

Weir, William Douglas; first Viscount Weir of Eastwood (1877-1959) industrialist and public servant (GUAS Ref: DC 90)

Friendly Society

Many firms or friendly societies had Funeral Funds for the workers or had such a service performed by the Friendly Society. Occasionally records of these endeavours survive along with the company or society records and show evidence of the attitude to death of the labouring class. (See Labour & Politics Source List)

Dixon, William Ltd; coal and iron masters, Glasgow (GUAS Ref: UGD 1)

UGD 1/35 Funeral Fund Roll Books 1841-66

Sailors Orphan Society of Scotland; charity, Glasgow (GUAS Ref: UGD 187)

Administrative records 1889-1962
Includes case histories often dealing with deaths and accidents at sea

Undertaking records

Although primarily a retailing group, The House of Fraser had a considerable interest in the undertaking business and this is reflected in the archives. Many of the surviving records are quite detailed for individual funerals showing where individuals were buried, with what show and ceremony and at what cost.

Croall, John & Sons Ltd; funeral undertakers, Edinburgh (GUAS Ref: HF 156)

Funeral day books 1855-1904
Funeral order books 1893-1959
