

University priorities for research

Miles Padgett Vice Principal for Research
Research Staff Conference, 8 May 2019

 /glasgowuniversity

 @UofGlasgow

 @UofGlasgow

  UofGlasgow

University
of Glasgow

INSPIRING PEOPLE CHANGING THE WORLD

University Strategy
2015–2020

Research strategy:

Inspiring people, changing the world

Teaching

- Connected learning
- Rewarding teaching
- Responsive curricula

Research

- Improve output quality
- Nurture and attract talent
- Increase and diversify income

Engagement

- Leading society
- Facilitating enterprise
- Advancing understanding

An aerial photograph of a city, likely Leuven, Belgium, featuring a prominent Gothic cathedral spire (St. Peter's Church) on the right. The foreground shows historic stone buildings with dark roofs, while the background includes modern architecture and a large stadium under a cloudy sky. The text is overlaid in white on a semi-transparent dark blue background.

Supporting our
Research

Since 2014...

University
of Glasgow

Pillars of our future strategy

Research Culture

Collegiality

Collaboration

Critical mass

Academic promotion criteria for 2019/20

Performance dimensions

1. Outputs
2. Award Generation
3. Supervision
4. Impact
5. Learning and Teaching Practice
6. Leadership, Management and Engagement
7. Esteem

Review: 5 key principles

1. Collegiality
2. Excellence
3. Parity of credit for impact and outputs
4. Importance of learning and teaching
5. Strengthen understanding and delivery of impact

University
of Glasgow

For discussion

What are we already doing to make Glasgow the best place in which to develop a research career?

Go to slido.com and enter code #A684 to comment

For discussion

*If we wished to make Glasgow
the best place in which to develop a research career,
what would we do?*

Go to slido.com and enter code #A684 to comment

University
of Glasgow

Thank you

Miles Padgett, Vice Principal for Research

Miles.Padgett@glasgow.ac.uk

#UofGWorldChangers

@UofGlasgow