1. English language qualification

If you used a SELT (English language test) as an English language qualification to meet the conditions of your offer for study at University of Glasgow, your CAS will state this:

Your CAS will confirm what evidence is required (if any) of your English language ability. Copy the details from your CAS in the English Language Qualification section of the online visa application form.

If your CAS states that a SELT is not required it will confirm why. There are 3 different options that your CAS may give and you will need to prepare any documents used to assess your English language level.

1. You have an academic qualification equivalent to a UK degree that was studied in a majority English speaking country (including the UK):

   Your CAS would either state the academic documents used as evidence of this in the "English Language qualification" and "Evidence Used to Obtain Offer" sections, or, state that Higher Education Institution (HEI) has made own assessment" in the English Language section and state the academic document used in the "Evidence Used to Obtain Offer" section.

2. You are a national of a “majority English speaking country”:

3. Your English language level has been assessed using an academic document by Admissions, but not with a SELT. The CAS will state “Higher Education Institution (HEI) sponsor has made own assessment” in this case:

Academic Progression:

If your CAS does not bear a statement confirming you are demonstrating academic progression and how, you will need to provide documents to show you meet the academic progression requirements with your visa application.

If you are exempt from demonstrating academic progression your CAS must state this and explain how you are exempt. The Tier 4 Policy Guidance lists the few exemptions to the academic progression requirement. Please also see our Academic Progression information sheet for more details.

A new ATAS certificate is required every time a student’s course changes and whenever they apply for a new visa or a visa extension.

If your CAS says an ATAS certificate is required you must have applied for and received this for your visa application (your visa application would be refused if you do not submit the ATAS certificate with your other supporting documents).

Additionally, students who are required to have an ATAS certificate but do not yet have this (e.g. applied but not yet received) cannot usually commence their studies until the School Office
