CENTRAL & EAST EUROPEAN STUDIES

You will study the history, economics, politics and sociology of the countries of Central and Eastern Europe.

MA (SocSci) (Hons) (R900): Four years

Year 1
You will study the collapse of the Russian, German and Habsburg Empires and the emergence and expansion of the Soviet system after 1917. You will examine the origin, nature and consequences of communist and nationalist ideologies, as well as the culture, civil society, and the reasons for the collapse of communism in the region during 1989–91.

You will also study other subjects in years 1 and 2.

Year 2
You will chart developments in the societies of the region from 1989 to the present day, including processes of economic, political and territorial change, aspects of social and cultural diversity, migration and the role of the media. You will examine the impact of the end of the Soviet Union on the development of "transition" ideologues, the emergence of civil society, and the integration of the region into the European Union and NATO.

Years 3 and 4
If you progress to Honours (years 3 and 4) you will choose from a wide range of subject areas and topics, including nationality and identity, migration, the media, economic and social history, modern political history including the impact of war and revolution, security and international relations, and civil society and the state, among others. Honours students will have the opportunity to undertake a field trip to one of the countries of the region.

Entry requirements
Our programme webpages advertise the most up-to-date detail on our entry requirements for 2021-22 entry at glasgow.ac.uk/undergraduate. Due to the impact that the COVID-19 pandemic has had on grades certified in 2020, we are currently assessing the flexibility that we can offer in the consideration of academic entry requirements. We will publish any changes on our webpages.

Our international links
We have a wide range of links with universities around the world, including Russia, Georgia, Ukraine, Central Asia, the Baltic States and the countries of Central and Eastern Europe and the Balkans. If you choose to take single Honours you will take a field trip abroad.

Career prospects
The 2004 and 2007 eastward enlargement of the EU and NATO, as well as ongoing developments in Russia, Ukraine, the other former Soviet states and the Balkans, mean there is a high demand for specialists in the field. Graduates have developed careers in the European Commission, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, non-governmental organisations (NGOs), journalism and the business community.

Why choose Glasgow?
The University is a hub for a government-funded Centre of Excellence for Russian, Central & East European Studies, which hosts cultural, social and academic events throughout the year. It is not compulsory but you may wish to study one of the following languages: Hungarian, Czech, Polish or Russian.
