

Centre for Scottish and Celtic Studies | Ionad Eòlas na h-Alba is na Ceiltis

Seminar Series, 2013-14, Semester 2

TUESDAYS, 5.30pm

ROOM 202, 3 UNIVERSITY GARDENS (unless marked with *)

Seminars marked with ◆ are part of the ‘Scotland and the Commonwealth’ series convened by Dr Lizanne Henderson, which take place in the usual venue. Seminars marked with * are part of the ‘How British is Scotland’ series convened by Prof Dauvit Broun and take place in the Western Infirmary Lecture Theatre.

- *14 January Dr Catriona Macdonald, ‘How British is Scotland? Romancing the Union’
- ◆21 January Dr Karly Kehoe (Glasgow Caledonian University), ‘Our Worthy Countrymen?: Highland Development and the West Indies, 1750-1850’
- 28 January Ross Crawford, ‘The Massacre of Eigg in 1577’
- *4 February Prof Alan Riach, ‘How British is Scotland? Anglification and the Arts of Resistance’
- 11 February Dr Domhnall Uilleam Stiubhart (Sabhal Mòr Ostaig and University of Edinburgh), ‘A Murder Mystery from Barra: The Killing of the Big Parson, 1609’
- 18 February Dr Gillian Kenny (Trinity College Dublin), ‘The “Mammy” Effect – Tracing cultural exchange through intermarriage in later medieval Ireland’
- *25 February Prof Dauvit Broun, ‘How British is Scotland? Britain and Scottish Independence in the Middle Ages’
- 28 February Prof Mícheál Ó Mainnín (Queens University Belfast), ‘The North-West Channel: Ireland and the Book of the Dean of Lismore’. This is the rescheduled Angus Matheson Memorial Lecture hosted by Celtic and Gaelic. Please note the day (FRIDAY); the lecture starts at 5.30pm. Refreshments will be available. Venue TBC.

PTO →

- 4 March Prof Richard Sharpe (University of Oxford), 'Irish manuscript auctions in the early nineteenth century: markets, collectors, libraries'
- 11 March Martin Cook (AOC) 'Recent work on Pictish barrows' and Dr Gordon Noble (Aberdeen University) 'An update on Rhynie'. This is a joint seminar with the First Millennia Studies Group.
- *18 March Prof Lynn Abrams, 'How British is Scotland? A Gendered Perspective'
- 25 March Prof Elizabeth FitzPatrick (National University of Ireland, Galway), 'The Hunting Grounds and Assembly Places in Medieval Gaelic Ireland'
- ◆ 1 April Prof Alan Riach, 'Scotland and New Zealand: poetry, fiction and the fact of the nation state'
- *8 April Prof Bill Sweeney, 'How British is Scotland? Harmonic Fantasy or Unresolved Dissonance?'