

USyd-UofG Ignition Grants Guidelines for Applicants

Purpose

As strategic partners, the University of Sydney (USyd) and the University of Glasgow (UofG) are committed to achieving impact through collaboration in research and education.

The Ignition Grants are a new initiative to support researchers from USyd and UofG to facilitate and support collaborative projects that develop multidisciplinary cutting-edge research to create academic and societal impact.

These grants are designed to provide researchers, in particular early- and mid-career researchers, with the opportunity to work with our strategic partner in developing joint research projects.

It is expected that all funded projects will evolve into larger scale projects, sustained by leveraging external funding. Evidence of external funding submissions will be required in final project reports.

In the first round, up to ten projects may be funded:

- Each project will have two teams led by chief investigators, one from USyd and one from UofG
- The average award will be AUD 10,000 from USyd and GBP 5,000 from UofG
- In exceptional cases up to AUD 20,000 from USyd and GBP 10,000 from UofG may be awarded

Preference will be given to teams which include PhD or masters by research students, postdocs, early- and mid-career researchers and researchers on sabbatical leave, rather than one-to-one research projects. Projects which are multidisciplinary in nature or seek to address the UN's Sustainable Development Goals are highly encouraged.
