PRIMARY CARE
Online MSc/PGDip/PGCert/CPD

WORLD CHANGERS WELCOME
Changing lives every day

International healthcare faces major challenges from the increasing demands of ageing populations and the rise in non-communicable diseases. Strong and effective primary care (family medicine/community medicine) is part of the solution.

What will I get from this programme?
This MSc in Primary Care will equip you with the knowledge and skills required to make a difference to healthcare in the 21st century, and enable you to identify and implement strategies to enhance quality in primary care.

Why Glasgow
This engaging programme of study is delivered by a number of high profile primary care practitioners and researchers, ensuring that the latest research and developments in primary care are incorporated in our teaching.

Programme structure
The MSc comprises three core courses, three optional courses, and a research project.

Core courses
• International primary care principles and systems
• Epidemiology, evidence and statistics
• Research methods

Optional courses
• Appraising healthcare evidence
• Cardiovascular disease management in primary care
• Management of long-term conditions
• Primary care mental health
(Additional courses planned)

Career prospects
Our graduates emerge with the capacity to take a lead role in primary care and family medicine development globally.

Entry requirements
Applications are welcome from qualified personnel in medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, nursing and allied health professionals as well as managers and those working or with an interest in primary care. We will consider applications from graduates with a 2:1 degree in an appropriate discipline although in exceptional circumstances other qualifications or experience may be considered (minimum of three years).
