8. Programme Aims:

The Honours programme in Spanish is designed to allow students to develop advanced Spanish language skills (even for those who are complete beginners on admission) and to provide an in-depth knowledge and understanding of the literature, culture and history of the Spanish speaking world (Spain and Latin America), based on research-led teaching. Catalan is also available within the Section. We also aim to help you to acquire various generally useful skills and techniques. This

<sup>1</sup> This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if full advantage is taken of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the learning outcomes, content and teaching, learning and assessment methods of each course can be found in course handbooks and other programme documentation and online at www.gla.ac.uk

The accuracy of the information in this document is reviewed periodically by the University and may be checked by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education.

programme therefore aims:

- to develop students to a high level of proficiency in reading, speaking, understanding and writing Spanish enabling them to communicate readily on a personal and professional basis, and to offer a number of courses which develop specific linguistic skills such as literary translation and interpreting
- to offer students at Honours level a range of courses on the literature, culture and history of the Spanish -speaking world, and to encourage students to develop their own specific areas of interest within that broad field
- to offer a variety of approaches to teaching and learning, and to encourage student-led learning within a supportive and stimulating environment
- to provide an introduction to areas of cultural studies and their associated intellectual frameworks
- to provide a foundation of personal transferable skills of relevance to employment, further academic study or research
- to deploy the research expertise of staff to promote the interaction of teaching and research within this course, as part of Glasgow's commitment to enhancing its reputation as a research-led university
- to enable students, through residence abroad, to increase their ability to express themselves in Spanish and to develop their interactive and intercultural skills in the process.

9. Intended Learning Outcomes of Programme:

By the end of the Honours programme in Spanish students should be able, under the headings below, to demonstrate:

- the ability to make effective and appropriate use of IT, both as a learning tool and as a means of communication

10. Typical Learning and Teaching Approaches:

Language elements

- Language classes: the language programme uses authentic materials in Spanish, both written and spoken: these forms of target-language material are used in a variety of ways, including reading, translation, production of related material in Spanish through essay-writing or oral presentation. The core language programme includes guidance on language-learning strategies throughout. Formal grammar is taught by means of the language programme and the guided study of grammar materials.
- There are regular oral classes with Native Language Assistants (including use of video/audio materials). Students here work on developing comprehension and presentational skills.
- Computer-assisted language learning reinforces command of grammatical structures
- Familiarity with the target language is reinforced by the study in literature and culture modules of a wide range of literary and other texts in Spanish.

Literature and Culture elements

- The literature and culture elements of the course are taught through a variety of approaches according to level and group size and in keeping with the nature of the topic in question, from more formal lectures to seminar/discussion groups.
- There are regular lectures and seminars, with a progression from a relatively high level of input from lecturers in Level 1 to increasing emphasis on group discussion and student autonomy in Honours.

Residence Abroad

The learning experience is enhanced by one or more compulsory periods of residence abroad in a Spanish-speaking country. In addition to the essential linguistic and cultural immersion provided, the periods of residence abroad offer positive opportunities for independent learning and intellectual and personal development.

11. Typical Assessment Methods:

Language elements

Language work at all levels (except the year abroad) is assessed by a combination of coursework done during the year and written and oral exams at the end of the year.

- Coursework is marked throughout the year, with staff offering feedback and support; there is regular marking and return of translation work and language essays, providing feedback on progress in preparation for further learning and assessment.
- Students are assessed by means of a variety of testing methods in the language element of the programme (translation, comprehension, independent writing in Spanish, oral presentations / examinations).

Literature and Culture elements

The literature and culture elements of the Spanish programme are assessed by a range of methods across the various levels:

- Class essays and other projects test skills of organisation, argumentation, understanding, analysis and independent research.
- Exams test knowledge retention and manipulation of material covered as well as organisational skills in time-limited contexts.
- All students are required to write a dissertation, whether Single or Joint Honours in one of their degree subjects. Dissertations test skills of organisation, argumentation, understanding, analysis and independent research in the context of an independently elaborated project.

Year abroad

British Council Assistantship – satisfactory completion of the placement will be certified by completion of the Erasmus Training Agreement (in cases where students have availed themselves of an Erasmus grant) and will be confirmed also by a report to SMLC signed by the head (or equivalent) of the host school, and by official report through the British Council.

Erasmus studentship - assessment will vary depending on the individual student's curriculum (as approved by the Glasgow academic co-ordinator of the exchange). This will normally include a significant proportion of assessment by examination. Completed transcripts to be approved by SMLC on the student's return (using standard conversion tables for ECTS grades).
